

New Employee Checklist

All new laboratory employees and researchers are required to go through an orientation process regarding safety rules and emergency procedures at UCSF. Principal investigators (PIs) and laboratory supervisors are accountable for providing emergency contact information, monitoring employee's safety training status, and informing employees of safety classes required. The Lab Manager's work group developed the New Employee Checklist to assist you in providing safety information to new employees.